Gas leak closes road in Simsbury, forces daycare evacuation

Published: Tuesday, October 01, 2013

SIMSBURY >> Route 315 (Tarrifville Road) was shut down at St. John's Place in Simsbury for more than an hour Tuesday morning after a construction crew struck and ruptured a gas line, causing a leak, according to Simsbury officials.

The fire department tweeted around 11:15 a.m. Tuesday that businesses and homes in the area are being evacuated. A daycare in the area, Educational Playcare, was among the businesses evacuated.

According to police Captain Nicholas Boulter, employees of R.H. White Construction were working in the area around 11 a.m. and accidentally struck the gas line.

Police and firefighters prohibited access to the area and evacuated surrounding buildings, including the daycare, Boulter said. Occupants were assisted to safe locations and provided transportation if needed, Boulter said.

SIMSBURY, CT (WFSB) - Simsbury Police are telling the public to use caution if they see a dog which recently escaped from a Bloomfield facility.

According to police, a very large black and tan Rottweiler escaped from a kennel on Rescue Lane Dec. 2. The dog is reported to be aggressive to humans and animals.

Police said the dog was spotted several times Dec. 7 in West Simsbury. The dog did not display any aggressive signs and had several non-aggressive, but distant interactions with people and other dogs.

Animal Control Officer Mark Rudewicz had a non-aggressive distant interaction with the dog on Saturday while attempting to apprehend it. The dog ran from people and other dogs and was last seen in the area of Tollgate Lane in West Simsbury around 3:45 p.m.

If you have seen the dog, Simsbury officials ask that you contact your local police department.
